PILGRIM ALMANAC

For the Year of our Lord

1873.

Being the first after Leap Year, and until the fourth of July, the 97th of American Independence.

ORIGINALLY CALCULATED BY LAWRENCE J. IBACH.

Time more swift than wind and billows
Fleeth. Who can bid
it stay?

To enjoy it when 'tis present,
To arrest it on its way.

This, ye brothers, will the fleeting
Of the winged days restrain;
Let us strew life's path
with roses,
For its glory soon will wane.

DR. WENGERT'S

Vegetable Family Medicines.

The Bible states: "The leaves of the trees are given for the healing of the nations." Such is Heaven's prescription. All the remedies for the sicknesses mentioned in the Old Testament, were Badiane, such as Hyssop, Myrrh, Atoles, &c., and in the New Testament we learn from St. Paul that the "weak ate herbs" in his time: these were, no doubt, of a tonic and alterative character. That they were not like many remedies of the present day, mineral compounds or active poisons, is proven by the longevity of the human race in the days of the early prophets, and the known materia medica up to the days of Hippocrates. Besides this, we know the office of Priest and Physician was filled by the same person. Our blessed SAVIOR himself is designated as the GREAT PHYSICIAN.

We hold that Providence has provided a remedy for every disease to which his creatures are subject, that for every bane there is an antidote within the vegetable kingdom, and the exercise of the faculties given will lead to select those herbs which observation and experience have shown to be beneficial. Upon this basis our MEDICINES are prepared. They are purely vegetable, and their chemical combination arranged upon the strictest principles of Medical Science. Their classification fulfills the requirements necessary to treat almost every sickness to which man is liable, ranging from the most common up to the most intricate diseases. We present these preparations to supply the want of a complete and truly reliable series of Scientific VEGETABLE FAMILY MEDICINES, and do honestly recommend them for use in the sicknesses herein stated.

Dr. WENGERT'S MOUNTAIN HERB BITTERS

Cure FEVER & AGUE, DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT and GENERAL DEBILITY. When these Bitters are used in conjunction with the HEPATICA or LIVER PILLS, a permanent cure is guaranteed in FEVER & AGUE.

When you have any ailment whatever, originating from or caused by impure blood, as BOILS, BLOTCHEES, PIMPLES, TUMORS, & SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS of any kind, then use Dr. Wengert's Indian Vegetable Restorative and Blood Purifier.

It cleans the system, and makes pure, healthy blood.

Have you a COLD, COUGH, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, IN CROUPY CONSUMPTION or any disease of the LUNGS, or RESPIRATORY ORGANS? then use

Dr. Wengert's Magic Balm.

Its equal for these complaints is not known in this world: many living monuments to-day, testify to its sovereign efficacy.

Dr. WENGERT'S HEPATICA or LIVER PILLS

Are a warranted SPECIFIC for LIVER COMPLAINTS, DIS EASES of the STOMACH, and whenever a mild alterative and gentle cathartic is indicated. They must be used in connection with the Mountain Herb Bitters in all cases of FEVER and AGUE, and DUMB AGUE. But is the great Pain Killer and Ache Curer of the Age, in cases of RHEUMATISM, HEAD, EAR and TOOTHACHE, NEURALGIA, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CORNS, CHILBLAINS, &c. It is quicker, stronger and better than any other anodyne now extant.

Dr. Wengert's SAMSON OIL

Lastly, we recommend to your special attention.

FOUSE'S IXL HORSE & CATTLE POWDERS

Pronounced by Horsemen and Dairymen THE BEST in this country. Also to fatten Swine, and keep Poultry in good condition. For references, recommendations, and further particulars, FOUSE'S BULLETIN.

CENTENNIAL ALMANAC FOR 1873.

THE MOON IS THE RULING PLANET THIS YEAR.

Concerning the influence of the Moon, those of old, it is believed, have said, If this planet is seen in certain positions towards the sun, the earth and other planets, its power will be observed in the weather, in the productiveness of the seasons and in the especial constitution of both men and animals.

THE YEAR IN GENERAL. This year will be more moist than cold and dry.

SPRING. Will be very wet and warm, with occasional frost. March will be cold throughout; April rainy; May, in the beginning, will be fine, with considerable rain, followed by severe cold. June will be very pleasant, with occasional rains.

SUMMER. Summer will be occasionally warm, but frequently cold.

FALL AND WINTER. The beginning of this season will be wet, and moderately cold; afterwards quite cold and wet; with December will be snow, followed by much rain. After the 20th it will be pretty cold and cloudy, till towards the 12th of January; afterward more moderate, but soon cold again, until about the 25th, when much snow and rain will fall. March will be, in the beginning, rough and cold, then warm. During this winter sheep and bees will be apt to die.

CULTIVATION OF SUMMER GRAIN. When this year has a warm summer, the sowing of the summer crops should not be delayed, yet they should not be thrown into the ground too early, since the hot weather commences late. Barley and oats at least will produce moderately; also lentils, peas and millet, which often produce very well on good fields. Do not sow too late nor too early. There will be plenty of hay, but little second crop.

WINTER GRAIN. The fields of winter grain, and especially the rye, which if sown early in the fall and is rank and large, should be pastured down with the sheep, otherwise it will grow too rank and produce more straw than grain. If the wheat in May is large and rank, it will produce little, for it grows too fast; this however is not the case on poor soil.

FALL SEEDING. This should be sown as early as possible; it will then produce little enough, for during the cold weather it will grow but very little, and if winter should come early, sheep should not be permitted to pasture on it, or they will crop it too short. All the seed should be sown deep into the earth, else by the plentiful floods of winter it will be washed out.

FRUIT. In some parts will be plenty; in others scarce. Acorns will be small.

HOPS. These will produce moderately; generally suffer in the Spring from mildew and hail.

WINE. There will be little vintage; grapes should be gathered early, as there is no hope for good weather. Vines should be covered early.

WIND AND STORM. In the winter, there will be heavy winds and extraordinary rains; in the Spring and Summer there will not be a great deal of thunderstorm, though some, which will not do much injury.

SICKNESS. In the Fall there will be severe and fatal fevers, and all sorts of dangerous diseases.

The Pilgrim Almanac.

For some time we have had a desire to present our readers with some kind of an annual publication that might be of some permanent value; and after considerable planning, we could not determine on anything that would answer our purpose better than a good family almanac, from the fact that it is a something that every family thinks they cannot well do without. To make a good thing better, we have determined to put out one that, while it points out the days, weeks, months and seasons; the sun's rising and setting, with its swingings beyond the tropics, and the moon's changes from light to dark, and all its attendant signs, teaching our good readers when to plant corn to "come up," and potatoes to "go down," when to lay fence to remain above the ground, and when to plant the stakes to push down, and a hundred and one other things we do not wish to take the time to mention; it will also teach them the signs of the times spiritually by giving such facts and narratives that will be both interesting and instructive.

On account of the shortness of the time we have to prepare the matter for this our first almanac, it will necessarily be more or less incomplete, yet we are determined to take every possible advantage of our limited time in making it as valuable as the circumstances will admit.

Our first object will be to give our readers a complete family almanac in every respect, containing everything that is useful, even to pointing out the time when the sign is up and when it is down; also telling just when it will rain and snow, and blow and bluster. Some of our readers may be a little skeptical about some of these things, but we shall not urge them to believe, as they are not points of doctrine, and we are somewhat credulous ourselves.

Another prominent feature in our work, is, giving abridged biographies of some of our early and great workers in the churches. Those of the first age of the church are abridgments of some already published, while those of a later date are made up from such material as we could find, and was kindly communicated to us.

A third and leading feature, is the ministerial list. This will be more or less imperfect, from the fact that we had not the time to get all the changes and the names of ministers, yet we feel assured that it will be a considerable improvement on former lists and be of great value to our readers. On the whole, the "Pilgrim Almanac" will be worthy of a place in every household in the brotherhood and be a valuable keepsake to hand down to future generations.—Editor.

BIOGRAPHIES.

Alexander Mack, Sr.

ALEXANDER MACK, Sr., was born in 1679, in Schriesheim, in the electoral of Palatia, or Chur-Pfalz, near Heidelberg, in Germany. He was an educated Presbyterian of the Calvinistic faith, and by occupation a miller.

After a prayerful investigation of the Scriptures, he changed his religious views and became convinced that an immersion in water was Christian baptism, and a believer the only fit subject for the ordinance. Accordingly, in the year 1708, he and his wife and six others were immersed in the river Aeder, and covenanted together to walk in all the commandments of the Lord, thus becoming one among the first ministers of the Church of the Brethren; and through his zeal for the cause of Christ, his labors were crowned with success. This excited the enemy, and persecutions followed.

He was rich, but for the sake of his brethren he became poor. To procure the liberty of his brethren who were cast into prison for the sake of Jesus, he paid their fines, which were so enormous that his fine vineyards and profitable mill were soon taken away.

In the year 1729, at the head of a large company of his persecuted brethren, he emigrated to America and settled on a small lot of ground near Germantown, where he assisted Peter Becker—who came over ten years before—in ministering the word to the church at Germantown. His sojourn in the new world was destined to be short, as in six years his labors closed on earth in the triumph of the hope of a blessed immortality. He died on the 19th of January, A. D. 1735, and his remains placed in the Brethren's burying-ground at Germantown, Pa., where his grave can yet be seen.

Alexander Mack, Jr.

This eminent disciple of Jesus, was a son of A. Mack, Sr., and was born at Schwartzenau, Germany, on the 28th of January, 1712, was baptized in 1728, when but sixteen years of age, came to America with his parents in 1729, called to the ministry June the first, 1748, and advanced to the office of bishop June the 10th, 1753, at which time the care of the church at Germantown was laid upon him. It is said that he was not much of an orator, but with the pen was ready and fluent, and manifested considerable talent for poetry. He died on the 20th of March, 1803, at the advanced age of 91 years, 1 month and 20 days.

George Miller.

GEORGE MILLER was born in Switzerland, in 1722, and emigrated to America when a boy. He settled near Elizabethtown, Lancaster Co., Pa. Here he became a member of the church, and also called to the ministry. His field of labor was principally in Dauphin Co., and was the first minister in the Big Swatara Church. In some things he was rather peculiar. He would take his staff on Saturday morning and walk fifteen miles to the place of meeting, next day after preaching, return home again, and that without dinner, save perhaps a piece of dry bread, frequently stopping by the way, saying that if we stop but five or ten minutes, the brethren can say that we have not forgotten them. In council he would stand back so that the members should not talk after him, therefore no great speech maker. Although he carried on farming, like many others at that time, he was also a weaver by trade. When persons came to have work done, he always made it a point to speak to them of religion. Some heard him gladly, while others made excuses and left. It is also related of him that he had an ox stolen and knew where it was, but he lived out what he preached, "If any man take away thy goods, ask them not to return them again." But his neighbors had the thief arrested and lodged in the Lancaster jail. Being yet under the British law, he feared his neighbor might be brought to the whipping post, he pitied him, and the weather being cold, fearing that he might have no bed in the jail, he went to Lancaster, over twenty miles, to see him, intending, if he had no bed, he would bring him one. Our informant does not say whether or not he had a bed, neither does it matter, as the act portrays the disposition. "He came not to condemn but to save the world." This truly good man died in September, 1798, aged 76 years and 9 months, and was buried on the farm on which he lived, near the old road which leads from Hummelstown to Elizabethtown. Peace be to his ashes.

For this, and the sketch of Eld. Geo. Klein we are indebted to Eld. Moses Miller, of Mechanicsburg, Pa. Klein being his great-grand-father and Miller his grand-father.

Abraham Crumpacker.

In the language of his biographer, it can be truly said, "Another light extinguished, another star removed to its new field of glory." He was truly a father in Israel and a light to the world.

Elder Crumpacker was born in the year 1767, and fell asleep in Christ on the 21st of April, 1859, making him fourscore and twelve, or 92 years old. He was a consistent member of the church for over seventy years, and labored in the ministry for upwards of sixty years. He was truly a sheaf fully ripe and ready to be gathered. Of his birth-place we are not informed, but he died in Virginia, where he was much beloved and respected by those who knew him, and where some of his descendants have been baptized in his stead, and are still contending for the same "old landmarks."

John Rothrock.

Here is another old father that overstepped the allotted time of sojourning on the earth. He entered the church militant in Mifflin Co., Pa., and was there called to the ministry. In 1836 he moved to White Co., Ind., where he lived and labored for the cause of Jesus until his departure, which occurred on the 12th of February, 1860, making the number of his days, eighty years and six months. Thus another old father has been numbered among those on the other side.

What joy it gives us when we think of the many old soldiers of the cross of Jesus who have gone home, and are now at rest awaiting the resurrection morn, when they shall be called to reap their glorious reward. Soon will the time come that others may write our biographies and we be with the good old fathers.

Daniel Bollinger.

This aged servant of the Lord was one of those active workers in the cause of primitive christianity. To him, the salvation of souls and the general welfare of the church was his meat and drink.

He was born in the year 1780, and preached the simple and primitive gospel for upwards of forty years in Mifflin, Cumberland and Lebanon Counties, Pa. During that time he preached over six hundred funeral sermons; and was in the office of Bishop about thirty years. He was the oldest member on the Standing Committee in the year 1855, which was the last Annual Meeting he was permitted to enjoy. After a long and useful life he was gathered home with the fathers, on the 16th of October, 1855, in the hope of a blessed immortality. His last days were spent in Lebanon Co., Pa., where he was greatly loved by his charge.

FEBRUARY

Eld. Joseph Emmert.

"Though dead, yet he speaketh," may truly be said of this aged pilgrim.

He was born in the year 1782, and spent his early days in Maryland, where yet reside many of his relatives. In the year 1845 he emigrated to the West, and settled in Lee Co., Ill., where he founded a large and flourishing church, which is now divided into two or three different districts. He was extensively known in the brotherhood, and commanded the love and respect of all who knew him. He preached publicly two weeks before he died, and preached to the hour of his death to those who visited him. He died with no special disease; but as a sheaf fully ripe, he was gathered into the garner of the Lord in the year 1860. In his death the church has lost a strong post and a wise counselor.

Eld. George Hoke.

It is with pleasure that we express our gratefulness in being successful in gathering some facts by which we are enabled to give a short sketch of this old veteran of the cross of Jesus. We are sorry to commence writing his biography with the imperfect knowledge received, but it is the best we can get for the present, hoping this may induce some one to give us something better again another year if spared. As brother Hoke attended a large number of Annual Meetings, and was quite a prominent counselor, he was so well known, especially by the old fathers, that we hope our readers will be satisfied with the few facts that we have gathered.

He was born in the year 1784; chosen to the ministry in 1822, and died in 1861, at the age of 77 years. His funeral services were attended by Eld. Joseph Shope.

John Shoemaker.

This faithful standard-bearer was born in the year 1788, and at the time of his death, was the ordained Elder of the Mogeagan Church, Wayne Co., Ohio. In his day, as a faithful servant of Christ, he gathered a church which extended, at one time, over Wayne, Ashland, Richland and Medina counties. This church is now subdivided into five or six separate districts, all of which are now supplied with faithful ministers, and in a flourishing condition. He met an untimely death, and ceased from his earthly labors on the 24th of June, 1855. His funeral was attended by Hoke and Dick, two old worthies, of whose lives we have not enough information to even write a short biography. We will be much pleased if some of our brethren by another year will supply us with material from which we can give these biographies.

Eld. John Flory.

John Flory, or as he was commonly called, "Johannes" was the grand-father of the writer of this, and he was a man of considerable prominence and reputation among the brethren, in the day in which he lived. His father emigrated from Germany to Pennsylvania in the early days of the Brethrens' appearance in the United States. Afterwards with several of his brothers he emigrated to the state of Virginia. He located on a farm near Dayton, Rockingham county. His brothers went on to Franklin county, and some of them finally went to Ohio and Indiana. He remained near Dayton Va., and there on the old homestead reared a family of, I think nine children, five sons and four daughters. The names of his sons were Daniel, John, Samuel, Jacob and Abraham; the last was the youngest and is my father who is living in Iowa and the only one now living. The children all embraced the faith of the father; none however, became a minister of the gospel. Of his grand-children four to my knowledge were called to that responsible position viz., Samuel of South English, Iowa; David of Cerro Gordo, Ill; John of Dayton, Va., who a few years ago departed from the faith and became a disciple of one Wm. Thurmond; and the writer is the other.

As a minister of the Gospel we learn he was endued with rare natural abilities, having deep and penetrating judgment in things of a divine nature, and his voice, demeanor, and manner of speaking were such that his preaching was very impressive and affecting. He traveled a great deal in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Maryland and in Virginia. In Ohio, the place was pointed out to me where he preached at one time in a grove at a communion meeting, when the country around Dayton was yet in the wilderness. In Maryland I preached in meeting houses where, I was told he preached 50 years before. As a Bishop he had few equals. Daniel Garber and a few others of the old fathers were his contemporaries and they constituted the pillars of the church in the valley of Virginia, or rather the standard bearers of the great fundamental truths of the glorious religion of Jesus, and around them clustered a number of zealous members from whom hath gone forth such prosperity that the number has become legion.

The labors of this old servant of the Lord, were extended for many years and crowned with marked success; but at last, at an advanced age, his time of departure came, and then as the tired and weary laborer returns from the harvest-field to take his rest at home, this aged saint left the field of his harvest labors and went home to "rest from his labors" in those blessed mansions above. It has been something like twenty-five years since he was gathered home to his fathers—though "dead yet he speaketh."

J. S. FLORY.

CONVERSION ADMITS OF NO DEGREES.—A man may be more or less wicked in his natural state, and he may be more or less holy in his regenerate state; but he cannot be more or less converted; he must either be converted or unconverted, regenerate or unregenerate, alive or dead. There is no medium. Every man who is not converted is a mere natural, unregenerate man, however rational, moral and amiable he may be in the common relations of life."

For the Children.

Here is a picture of a bird and a cluster of flowers. This we give especially for the children who read the almanac. We always want to remember the children and give them something that they like to read. I have no doubt they all love flowers, the beautiful flowers, the sweet smelling flowers. God made the flowers. There are a great many of them, in different parts of the world, and all are different from each other, in size, color and form. We read about flowers in the Bible. Our lives are compared to a flower that grows, and blooms, and seems so beautiful for a time, and then fadeth and dieth; and our Savior, speaking of the lilies of the field, tells us that even "Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." "Wherefore if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?"

So we also read in the Bible about the birds, how God made them all, with their sweet voices and their beautiful plumage. We also read how Noah, when he was in the ark, sent out first a raven to find out whether the waters of the flood had dried away, and that the raven never returned. How he then sent a dove, and that the dove came back again; then after seven days he sent out the dove a second time and it returned with an olive leaf in its beak, and then Noah knew the waters had subsided, so that the trees could be seen; and then in seven days he sent it out a third time and it returned no more. Then Noah knew that the earth was dry, but he waited patiently till God told him to go out of the ark.

So the Bible also tells us that the ravens brought bread and flesh to the prophet Elijah during a time of dearth in the land of Israel, both morning and evening. Many other interesting incidents might be told if we had room. Let us not forget that God made the flowers to beautify the earth, and the birds to sing, and so to praise him, and the little children too should try to praise God by a good and obedient life. The Savior says, "Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me," and again, "Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou perfected praise," Matt. 21:16.

What are the Children to Read?

Among the subjects claiming the consideration of Sunday School workers there is none, I think, of more importance than the library. That this is of much importance all must admit who have a true sense of book influence for good or evil, and of the susceptibility of the youthful mind to that influence. While it is, indeed, important that all, whatever may be their age or their mental and moral maturity, should look well to the character of their reading, it is certainly more important that the young should be protected from what is pernicious in literature, because of their evident lack of discrimination and of mature, intellectual, and heart strength.

There are moral contagions far more dreadful than contagions of a physical nature; and there can be no question that they are communicated and spread to an alarming extent through the printing-press; and that our youth, especially, are in great danger. God grant that parents, and all who are responsible for the training of children, may fully realize the truth, and act in the light of it with the same precaution, wisdom and fidelity which characterize their conduct in reference to small-pox, fever, and all abhorrent and malignant diseases.

What shall children read? is a question which all who love children and desire their temporal and eternal interests, and see the temptations thrown around them by thoughtless, designing and wicked writers and mercenary publishers, should ask with prayerful solicitude. They must and will read—and it is equally true that they will not read what does not interest them. Hence they must have such reading as they can appreciate, and they must be educated to appreciate what is good and wholesome. We may not—cannot—force their likes and dislikes. This is sometimes attempted—always unwisely, to their serious injury; but we may, and must, if we would save their souls, educate them to like, in literature as in all things, that which is good and true and virtuous, and to abhor whatever is otherwise.

Books more or less objectionable are continually thrown upon the market by rival publishing-houses, which do not seem at a loss in finding parties willing to recommend them as suitable for Sunday Schools. Purchasing Committees neither have time nor disposition, too often, to investigate their claims to a place in the library—take much for granted, or act on the testimony of self-interested witnesses—and thus are introduced into almost every Sunday School in the land books that are trashy and decidedly injurious.

A remedy for this, at least in part, may be found in Children's Papers. In view of the truth contained in the foregoing remarks, the writer has aimed for several months past to reform his own school, by substituting papers for books. I would by no means abolish the library; but having provided, as above stated, for the children, would aim to improve the character of the library, and adapt it more to the wants of the teachers and adult members of the school. The books should be purchased singly, or in small numbers, from time to time, as circumstances demand, and only such as are well endorsed and of unquestionable value. First of all, books of practical value on the Sunday School work, with aids to teachers, should find favor and place; and, in the end, I would by no means discard works of real value on historical and scientific subjects.—Examiner and Chronicle.

A Word on Family Prayer.

Perhaps some of you say, "I am so ignorant that it is no good trying to have prayer in our family." You make a mistake there. It is not grand words that God wants, but honest hearts. God offers you his Holy Spirit to help you in your prayer and to teach you to pray. Jesus says, "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give his Holy Spirit to them that ask him!" Ask God for the help of his Holy Spirit, and you will find that it is far better than all the help that any man can give you.

The Palm Tree.

Exodus 15:27.

This tree is called in Hebrew, tamer, from its straight, upright, branchless growth, for which it seems to be more remarkable than any other tree; it sometimes rises to the height of a hundred feet.

The Palm is one of the most beautiful trees of the vegetable kingdom. The stalks are generally full of rugged knots, which render it comparatively easy to climb to the top for the fruit. Song of Sol. 7:7,8. These projections are the vestiges of the decayed leaves; for the trunk is not solid like other trees, but its center is filled with pith, round which is a tough bark, full of strong fibers when young, which, as the tree grows old, hardens and becomes ligneous. To this bark the leaves are closely joined, which in the center rises erect, but after they are advanced above the sheath that surrounds them, they expand very wide on every side of the stem, and as the older leaves decay, the stalk advances in height. With its ever verdant and graceful crown continually aspiring towards heaven, it is an apt image of the soul growing in grace. Ps. 92:12. The leaves, when the tree has grown to a size for bearing fruit, are six to eight feet long, and very broad when spread out, and are used for covering the tops of houses and similar purposes.

The fruit, from which the palm is often called the date-tree, grows below the leaves in clusters, sometimes weighing over fifteen pounds and is of a sweet and agreeable taste. The diligent natives, says Dr. Gibbon, celebrate either in verse or prose, the three hundred and sixty uses to which the trunk, the branches or long leaf-stalks, the leaves, fibres and fruit of the palm are skillfully applied. A considerable part of the inhabitants of Egypt, Arabia, and Persia subsist almost entirely on its fruit. They boast also of its medicinal virtues. Their camels feed upon the date stone. From the leaves they make coaches, baskets, bags, mats, and brushes; from the branches or stalks, cages for their poultry and fences for their gardens; from the fibers of the trunk, thread, ropes and rigging; from the sap is prepared a spirituous liquor; the body of the tree furnishes fuel, and it is even said that from one variety of the palm tree, the phœnix farinifera meal has been extracted, which is found among the fibers of the trunk, and has been used for food. Several parts of the Holy Land, no less than of Idumea, that lay contiguous to it, are described by the ancients to have abounded with date trees. Judea, especially, is typified in several coins of Vespasian by a disconsolate woman sitting under a palm tree, with the inscription, JUDEA CAPTA. In Deut. 34:3, Jericho is called the "City of palm trees;" and several of these trees are still found in that vicinity; but in general they are now rare in Palestine. Palm wreaths and branches waved in the air or strewn on the road are associated not only with the honors paid to ancient conquerors in the Grecian games and in war, but with the triumphant entry of the King of Zion into Jerusalem, Jn. 12:12,13 and with his more glorious triumph with his people in heaven. Rev. 7:9.

He who occupies his leisure hours with only one pursuit, is in danger of becoming a nuisance to his friends.

Sorrow is the furnace that melts selfish hearts together in love.

The Brethren.

In writing Church history the great hobby is, "apostolical succession," but the best evidence that any church can have of being successors of the apostolical church is, that it holds and practices the teachings of Jesus as revealed by himself, and recorded in the New Testament.

The church of the Brethren, if willing to follow up the muddy and bloody stream that is claimed by other churches to be the "unbroken chain," can come in for their full share of this empty honor. While they believe that the true church never became extinct, yet they look not for it in that direction, believing it to be the "hidden church" and not the church of profane history.

The true church consists in the "Light" or "Spirit of Christ," and that was removed from one place to another as the people were willing to accept it. It was that light that fell upon the eight precious souls of Swartzanau, Germany, who mark the epoch of the present organization of Brethren.

These were mostly members of the Presbyterian faith, but being fully persuaded that that church did not walk and practice after the principles as revealed in the New Testament, they solemnly and prayerfully banded themselves together for a thorough examination of the sacred Scriptures, pledging themselves to take them for their only guide, and follow out their teachings with the ability that God would give.

After a mature and deliberate investigation they became fully convinced that trine immersion was apostolic baptism, and that faith and repentance were the essential prerequisites; accordingly, in the year 1708, they were immersed, in the river Æder, in each of the names of the Trinity, there covenanting together to walk in all the ordinances and commandments of the Lord.

This little band formed a nucleus which, by its zeal and deep piety, soon attracted large numbers of adherents and the little organization increased rapidly, so much so that the enemy became alarmed and the result was, they were so severely persecuted that they were necessitated to disperse in little bands and flee to wherever they could enjoy religious liberty. This they found for a season, in some of the provinces of Germany. But the adversary still followed their track until finally they were obliged to seek shelter in the new world.

In the year 1719 they commenced emigrating to America and organized their first church at Germantown, Pennsylvania.

From this small center the doctrine, as believed and taught by the Brethren, went forth and spread until it is now preached — excepting a few of the New England and Southern states — in every state and territory in the United States, though most numerous in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, and now have a membership of over 100,000.

The following they hold as fundamental principles as taught by Jesus and to be practiced and observed in his church: Faith, Repentance and Baptism, the Lord's Supper, the Communion, the kiss of charity, anointing the sick with oil, and non-resistance. They also teach non-conformity to the vain fashions and customs of the world, not to swear or take an oath, believing such things as not being in harmony with the spirit and teachings of the Gospel.

Ministers are chosen by the voice of the church from which they are called, on account of their known piety and aptness to teach, without any prior special training for the office. They are not supported by stated salaries but support their families by laboring with their own hands, thus "making themselves chargeable to no man." When their duties in their callings are such that they have not the time and means to do this, they, and their families, are supported by the church, as

Meeting and Parting.

By D. B. MENTZER.

"Be not thou, therefore, ashamed of the testimony of our Lord." — Paul to Timothy.

When we each other's faces see,
And in each other's presence meet,
Let us true, loving christians be—
With holy kiss each other greet.

Are we ashamed to own our Lord,
Who bought us with his precious blood?
Shall we not own his cleansing word,
The Book of books, so rich, so good?

No, no; 'twill save our tempted souls,
Nor let the world our treasure steal;
We'll seek to gain entire control
O'er all that would the truth conceal.

Take up the cross, and daily live
In love to him who died for thee;
To thy dear fellow-members give,
The hand and kiss of charity.

Waynesborough, Pa.
